Friends of the Great Glen Ways

The Friends of the Great Glen Ways project is an opportunity for route users, local residents and businesses to become involved in and contribute to the Great Glen Ways.

The Great Glen by Boot, Bike or Boat is a fantastic part of our Natural Heritage and this project gives members an opportunity to really feel part of the route and the amazing countryside the routes travel through.

The project gives members access to "Red Star" discounts, information and exciting weekends working with the Rangers on the Great Glen Way.

If you have walked, cycled or travelled on any of the Great Glen Ways this is a chance to rekindle your memories and help conserve the route for future users. Take advantage of the discounts and return for weekend breaks and short stays to do the Glen another way. If you are planning to walk the route, join and take advantage of the discounts on accommodation, food and of course your map! You can become a Friend of the Great Glen Ways for as little as £15.00.

If you have walked the Great Glen Way or are planning to walk it, the Friends project gives you the chance to really feel part of this amazing long distance route. You can also take advantage of some great discounts when planning your walk. See rear of leaflet for details.

Friends Weekend 2009

To give you a chance to do your bit on the ground for the Great Glen Ways and to meet other Friends members, the Great Glen Way Rangers are organising a practical biodiversity weekend this year. Exclusively for Friends of the Great Glen Ways, it will take place in Autumn 2009.

In conjunction with British Waterways Scotland, we will be planting native trees along the side of the Caledonian Canal as part of ongoing work to improve natural habitat within the Great Glen.

All tools and instructions will be provided by the Great Glen Way Rangers, as well as refreshments during the day.

There will be some assistance with organising accommodation in the village for the weekend.

Numbers are limited so please contact the Rangers early to book your place.

Contact details for the Rangers can be found on the next page.
